The Lullabag Baby Sleep Bag

Cloud B

With as much as my baby fussed through the night, her blankets would always end up at the bottom of her crib. I would have to continuously go in to her room to cover her back up to keep her warm. The Lullabag has arm and shoulder snaps so she can't wiggle her way out. The zip around design made it very convenient for late-night diaper changes. It has a soft cotton outer shell with a thick quilted lining to keep baby warm. {DJ}

Sleep Sheep

Cloud B

This cute cuddly plush toy has a hidden secret, a sound box tucked inside! It has four different soothing sounds to help your baby sleep. I could choose from Spring Showers, Ocean Surf, Whale Song or the sound of the mother's heart beat. I would switch off using the different sounds as "white noise" to help put my little girl to sleep. It has an easy-to-use Velcro tab to connect to the outside of my baby's crib or bassinet. The sound box is removable and will shut itself off in 23 minutes. It even comes with an adoption certificate and Sleep Sheep story to read your little one. {DJ}

Lullawrap

Cloud B

The first thing they show you in the hospital is how to swaddle your newborn to sleep. The Lullawrap is over sized and made of a super-soft flannel. It even has a sewn-in hood! Swaddling my little girl in the Lullawrap helped her feed better and fall asleep faster. I used it on her crib, car seat, bouncer and stroller. {DJ}
